GOP In Mood For Reform

Flock Of Bills

Before Assembly

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Illinois Senate Republicans, in a mood to get going on revenue reform, set a hearing for today on their version of changing the state constitution's tax article.

The five-part plan for amending the constitution was brought in on the opening day Wednesday by Sen. W. Russell Arrington, GOP majority leader.

Arrington succeeded in scheduling a hearing by the entire Senate over objections of Democrats who said many other revenue proposals will be offered later and all should be considered at the same time.

The Republican proposal would give voters a choice of authorizing or banning a state income tax, either graduated or at a flat rate. It also would classify real and personal property for tax purposes.

Any Constitutional amendments need a two-thirds vote in the legislature and approval in a referendum for adoption.

Senate Democrats sought to push along Gov. Otto Kerner's bills for reapportionment of the House and Senate, but were blocked by Republicans.

Democratic leaders asked that the bills be advanced without the customary reference to a committee. Sen. George Drach, R-Springfield, who led the objectors, said a federal court suit involving Senate redistricting is pending in Chicago and the legislature should mark time.

Arrington, with the 33-25 majority behind him, set machinery in motion for fast action on his bills defining conflict of interest by state officials, employees and legislators.

The bills, coupled with a resolution setting up a commission to study plans for handling disclosures by lawmakers, will be heard by the Senate Tuesday.

In another action, a petition contesting the election of Democrat Theodore Swinarski of Chicago to the Senate was referred to the Elections Committee for a hearing.

Swinarski is being challenged on grounds his legal residence was not in the 14th district when he was elected from that district.

A flock of bills were introduced in the General Assembly, including measures to repay counties for expenses of conducting the at-large House election.

A Senate bill requested a $5 million for the state highway fund.

Seeks Union Control By Unseating Chief

PITTSBURGH (AP) — I. W. Abel is trying to win control of a big union in a way that has rarely, if ever, succeeded in the history of American unionism.

The secretary-treasurer of the United Steelworkers Union is attempting to move up from the union's No. 2 spot by unseating President David McDonald in the union's election Feb. 9.

Traditionally, the leadership of major unions has changed mainly through death or retirement. High-level internal rebellions have been few.

Abel is confident of victory. "We never had any question about it," he said Wednesday.

Abel, 56, hopes to ride to the top on the strength of rank-and-file discontent which he says runs deep and wide in the million-member union. He claims the mill hand has lost his voice in union affairs and too much authority is now concentrated in

Youths May Sign For Job Corps Units In State

CHICAGO (AP) — Applications are being accepted for the two federal job corps centers in Illinois, the Chicago Commission on Youth Welfare announced Wednesday.

The centers — one in the Shawnee National Forest, Pope County, and the other in Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge, Williamson County — will offer training in forestry, agriculture and trades.

They will be open to any person between 16 and 21 who has not been able to find a satisfactory job and to any whose reading and arithmetic skills are in the 4th to 7th grade levels.

Each center is expected to accommodate 200 youths, who will receive room and board, $30 a month expense money, and, at the end of the training period, $50 for each month spent at the camp.

Women will receive instruction in family responsibilities in addition to educational and vocational training.

Applications will be assessed by the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington Charles Livermore, executive director of the Youth Welfare Commission, said.

Mayor Richard Daley recently requested $18 million from the federal government to establish work-training centers in Chicago.

An estimated 40,000 youths are expected to be in rural camps across the country the first year, and 100,000 the second.

LIGE McKELVY DIES

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Lige McKelvy, 62, whose musical arrangement of "I Don't Want to Set the World on Fire," became a million seller, died Tuesday of a heart attack. McKelvy was chief arranger for the Tommy Tucker Orchestra when the tune hit the top. He was born in Milan, Tenn.

Remap Bills Revive Question

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Introduction of reapportionment bills in the Illinois Legislature by Democrats has revived what Republicans regard a constitutional question.

Can lines of legislative districts be drawn so a single district includes both Chicago and suburban territory?

The maps were introduced Tuesday by Gov. Otto Kerner's legislative lieutenants. They were drawn by Democratic leaders, including spokesmen for Chicago Mayor Richard Daley.

A corollary question posed by the maps is whether district lines may follow county line boundaries in part and then

May Eliminate Gold Backing On Some Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson tentatively plans to ask Congress to eliminate the gold backing on part of the nation's money supply, it was learned Tuesday.

The plan would leave unchanged the 25 per cent gold backing on U.S. currency.

It would make an additional $5 billion in gold available for future increases in the money supply or to meet international obligations.

The plan calls for elimination of the legal requirement for a 25 per cent gold backing on the U.S. banking system. The move would be only the second major change in relationship between money and gold since the United States abandoned the strict gold standard in 1934.

Highly placed sources said Johnson feels further increases in the money supply will be needed since the economic signs point to a fifth straight year of business expansion.

Although laymen tend to think of money only as the currency they hold in their pockets and safes, economists regard bank accounts as an even more important medium of exchange.

Banks must keep a certain percentage of their deposits in Federal Reserve banks. In turn, the Federal Reserve must maintain a supply of gold equivalent to 25 per cent of these bank reserves. It is this legal percentage that Johnson favors repealing.

That 1963 contract was negotiated by the Joint Union-Management Human Relations Committee in a concept of bargaining that has been described as "mutual trusteeship." The contract was rewritten without a formal reopening, a first in the industry.

Some of McDonald's opponents have accused him of turning the USW into a "company union," meaning it has leaned too far in favor of the management viewpoint.

Abel is confident of victory. "We never had any question about it," he said Wednesday.

Job Security For All Among McDonald Aims

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Total job security, organization of the non-organized and industrywide bargaining for members in steel fabricating plants are among the long-range aims of David J. McDonald, United Steelworkers Union president.

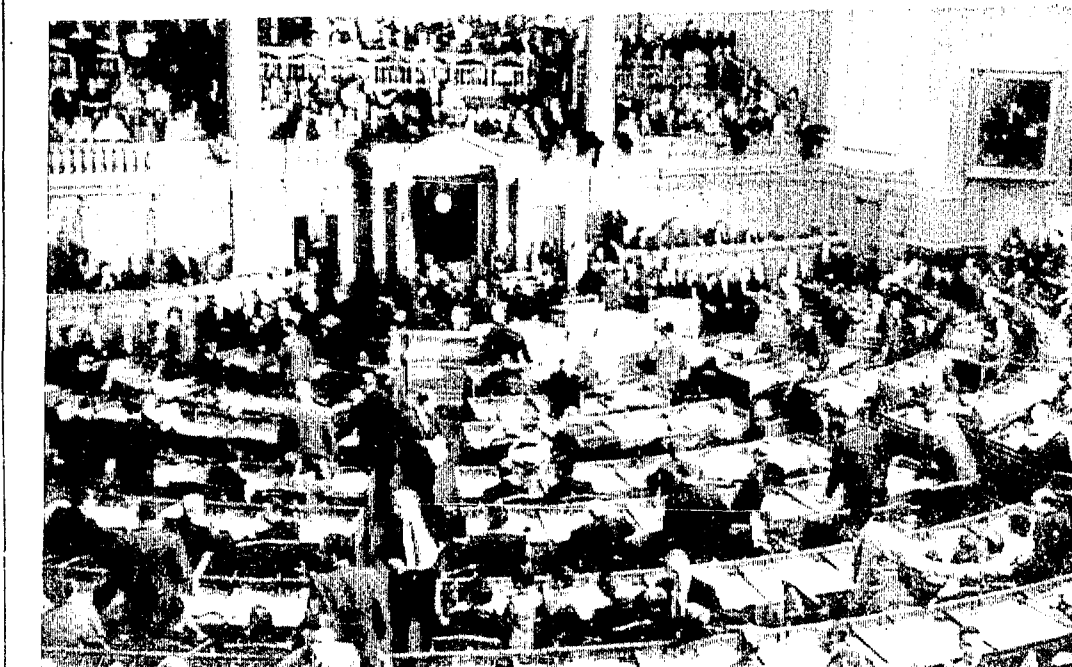

McDonald, in announcing his re-election campaign platform Wednesday night, called it one "geared to the 1960s, not the 1950s."

McDonald is opposed for his fourth, four-year term by USW Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel. The million-member union elects officers Feb. 9 and the current campaign is being carried on during negotiations for a new labor contract with the basic steel industry.

"We shall develop a program of total job security," McDonald said. "We shall remove the fear of instantaneous layoff from all members of the Steelworkers Union."

As for gaining new members, he said: "The unorganized must be organized. New techniques, ideas and plans have already been developed. Millions of clerical and technical workers as well as industrial workers must be brought into unions or associations for their mutual benefit and protection."

McDonald called for industrywide bargaining for USW members and the various types of fabricating plants.

Pick 3 New Members For Key Committee

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats meet today to pick three new members of one of the key committees of Congress—Ways and Means.

Their action is important for two reasons:

1. The three new members should give the administration the edge it needs to move promptly out of the committee a bill providing health care for the aged under Social Security. This is a keystone of President Johnson's legislative arch for the coming year.

2. The Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee also choose the assignments of party members to other House committees. There is always brisk competition for coveted spots on the major committees, so this 17-member group of Democrats has double significance for fellow party members in the House.

The importance of the Ways and Means Committee lies in the fact that it originates all tax legislation. Its actions can have a big effect on the nation's economy.

House Republicans planned a meeting of their own to continue the business of organizing for the new session.

Among the proposed rule changes for their party conference is one which could conveniently clear out the rest of the Old Guard holdovers in leadership positions and allow new Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan to name his own men to the jobs.

The Democrats said to be in line for the three openings on the Ways and Means Committee are Reps. Richard Fulton of Tennessee, Phil M. Landrum of Georgia and Charles A. Vanik of Ohio.

All three are known to support the kind of health care for the aged bill that Johnson wants.

The Republican rules change proposal would prohibit any member who is the ranking Republican on a legislative committee from serving at the same time in a House leadership position.

This restriction, if adopted, would fit the old party whip, Rep. Leslie Arends of Illinois, and Rep. John W. Byrnes, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee.

Arends also is ranking GOP member of the House Armed Services Committee and Byrnes is ranking Republican on Ways and Means.

They would presumably rather retain their committee jobs. Such a rule also would give them a graceful reason for bowing out and letting Ford pick his own lieutenants in the leadership hierarchy.

URGES INVESTIGATION OF WOMAN'S DEATH

WASHINGTON, Ill. (AP) — A Tazewell County coroner's jury has recommended exhuming the body of a woman found in a burned-out home and reopening the investigation into her death.

The victim was thought to be Mrs. Hazel Finson, 57, who had lived in the house. But the jury said Wednesday there had been no positive identification of the body and that the cause of death could not be determined.

The Finson home was destroyed by fire Dec. 9.

Apollo Manned Moon Program Has First Delay

By HAROLD R. WILLIAMS

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The U.S. plan to orbit three astronauts in an Apollo moon spacecraft in 1966 suffered its first setback today with announcement of major schedule changes.

Also caught in the revisions was the third Saturn manned mission, which was replaced by an unnamed earth orbital test of the lunar excursion module — LEM — which will carry astronauts to the moon's surface.

Dr. William A. Lee, head of the Operations Planning Division at the Manned Spacecraft Center, said the delay in the first three-man orbital flight should be small.

"Instead of making the launch earlier in 1966," he said, "it will be later in 1966."

Because of the closeness of the schedule, however, problems could send the mission into 1967, observers pointed out.

Original planning called for two unmanned sub-orbital flights of the powerful Saturn IB rocket. The third, assuming no major setbacks occurred on the previous two, was to be flown by three astronauts.

Lee said the third flight now was scheduled to be a test of the second-stage booster, called the Saturn 4B, and its propellant tanks, which hold liquid hydrogen and oxygen.

May Lead Police To Star Of India, Other Rare Gems

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Allan Dale Kuhn, 26, is in Miami in a reported attempt to lead police to the Star of India sapphire and 21 other jewels he and two others are accused of stealing.

The world's largest cut sapphire and the other gems — valued at $410,000 — were taken Oct. 29 from the American Museum of Natural History in New York.

Kuhn flew here Tuesday from New York. Authorities were given out no information but New York and Miami newspapers printed some details of the behind-the-scenes maneuvers today.

The crack in the case started late Tuesday when Kuhn reportedly told New York authorities he might be able to get his hands on the Star of India and the other jewels if he could get to Miami.

Kuhn is accused of the theft along with fellow beach boys Jack (Murphy the Surf) Murphy, 27, and Roger Frederick Clark, 29.

While Murphy and Clark remained in a New York jail under high bond, Kuhn was permitted to fly to Miami in the company of two detectives and a Manhattan assistant district attorney. He was said to be "under surveillance," but not in custody.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's eye was on the nation — not just the Deep South — when he called for elimination of obstacles to voting, a highly authoritative source said today.

The source said Johnson wants Congress to take steps aimed at reversing the nation's historically low voter turnout as well as ensure the rights of Negroes to vote in the South.

The Justice Department, it was understood, will advise the President whether to seek his goal through legislation, a constitutional amendment, or both.

The administration is known to be considering an amendment that would end literacy tests as a qualification for voting and that would fix residence requirements for voting in federal elections.

Withdraws Indonesia From UN

Sukarno Ignores Many Appeals

BULLETIN

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno Thursday night announced Indonesia's withdrawal from the United Nations.

In taking this decision, Sukarno thus ignored appeals made by practically the whole world, including his allies and friends in the African-Asian camp, to keep his country in the world organization.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Foreign diplomats in Jakarta said today that President Sukarno still insists he will withdraw Indonesia from the United Nations.

The diplomats, who saw Sukarno in the past few days, refused to be identified.

Sukarno was to address a mass rally tonight, one week after threatening in another speech to pull Indonesia out of the world organization. State Minister Soepeno said the president would make good his threat.

A parade of foreign ambassadors continued to call on Foreign Minister Subandrio to discuss Indonesian withdrawal from the United Nations. Only the Red Chinese were reported approving the move.

Cardinal Meyer Has More Tests

CHICAGO (AP) — More tests were scheduled today for Albert Cardinal Meyer, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, who entered a hospital Wednesday with what physicians believe is gall bladder trouble.

The cardinal was reported "resting comfortably" at Mercy Hospital.

"It looks like gall bladder trouble, but more tests must be run before we know for certain," Dr. George O'Brien, one of two physicians attending the 62-year-old cardinal, said Wednesday.

Dr. O'Brien said the cardinal's condition was "not very serious" and he probably would not remain in the hospital for more than a week.

An electro-cardiograph examination showed no sign of heart ailment, said Dr. John L. Keeley, the other attending physician.

Cardinal Meyer, spiritual leader of some two million Roman Catholics in the Chicago area, was taken to the hospital by ambulance Wednesday after he awoke with what was described as a feeling of nausea and dyspepsia.

School Bus, Truck, Car Crash Hurts 12

CLINTON, Ind. (AP) — A school bus, a milk truck and an auto piled up today on Ind. 71 west of Clinton and 11 high school students and one adult were brought to Vermilion County Hospital.

Hospital attendants said three of the Clinton High School students were admitted, all in fair condition, along with John Aimone, 61, Clinton, the milk truck driver. Aimone is also listed as fair.

The school bus, carrying 30 pupils, overturned a half mile north of Blanford.

HEALTH MESSAGE HIGHLIGHTS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the topical highlights of President Johnson's message to Congress on health:

Medical care for the aged — Proposes enactment of a medical care program for the elderly, financed through Social Security, providing costs of hospital and post-hospital extended care, home nursing services, and outpatient diagnostic service.

Child health — Calls for increased appropriations for maternal and child health and crippled children's services, including health screening and diagnosis for preschool and school-age children and treatment and follow-up care for disabled children and youth.

Mental health — Recommends a five-year program paying costs of staff for community mental health centers offering comprehensive services.

Major killers — Recommends a five-year program to develop multipurpose regional medical complexes for an all-out attack on heart disease, cancer, stroke and other major fatal diseases.

Health manpower — Asks increased grants and scholarships to train doctors, dentists, nurses and medical technicians and calls for development of a long-range health manpower program.

Consumers health protection — Calls for new laws for control of production and distribution of habit-forming drugs, adequate labeling of hazardous products, premarketing examination of cosmetics and therapeutic devices and authority to seize counterfeit drugs at their source.

Other Medic Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today a broad health insurance — health care package that includes a suggestion that the federal government pay part of the basic operating costs of medical and dental schools.

Johnson, submitting a message entitled "Advancing the Nation's Health," plugged first for enactment this year of medical insurance for persons 65 and over under the Social Security program.

He made the message his first on a specific subject in the new session, thereby giving it high priority.

"I believe this year is the year when, with the sure knowledge of public support, the Congress should enact a hospital insurance program for the aged," the President said.

AF To Disband 155 Reserve Units By April

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force announced plans today to disband 155 Air Force Reserve units by April.

The action involves about 8,000 reservists in 44 states and the District of Columbia.

Although the announcement did not say so, the action was believed to be a forerunner to the merger of the Air Force Reserve into the Air National Guard.

Such a move would parallel action already taken with respect to the Army Reserve and National Guard.

The units involved are 112 recovery squadrons and 43 recovery groups.

These are ground units whose mission is to provide for support of regular Air Force military planes at civilian airports following an attack on the United States that might have knocked out military fields.

There is a certain type bridge player who likes to wait until he thinks his opponents have shown weakness and then back into the action. Such tactics are all right on occasion, but in general they lead to disaster.

With five high-card points and no singleton, North did not have quite enough to bid directly over West's heart overall. Then after East had bid two clubs and South and West had passed, North felt that it was up to him to reopen and he bid two diamonds.

He was right in noting that East and West had shown weakness, but he overlooked the fact that South had also shown weakness and that, while nothing bad could happen to him if he passed, a two diamond bid might lead him into real trouble.

West had considered going to two no-trump over his partner's two clubs. Had he done so, East might have raised him to game. If he had played the hand for everything available, he would have actually made three no-trump. Now the two diamond call was a real gift. He doubled and led the nine of clubs.

East won with the queen and returned a heart. South played the nine. West won with the ten and led a second club to his partner's king. East played a second heart and eventually the defense collected two clubs, two hearts, two diamonds, a spade and 500 points which was a trifle better than the nonvulnerable game they might have made and a lot better than the two or three clubs they would have made had North remained silent.

Banks Woo Women Customers With High Fashion Checkbooks

By PHIL KEUPER
NEW YORK (AP) — The checkbook, once black and solidly male, has exploded into more colors than a woman's hat. Banks, wooing the ladies, are selling checkbooks cloaked in an increasingly wider array of colors and in plastic finishes made to look like everything from leopard skin to leopard skin.

The checks themselves appear in more compatible colors than the rainbow.

The layer of glamor on the once-plain checkbook has followed the gradual emergence of the woman as the check-writer in a vast number of the nation's more than 46 million personal checking accounts. So fashion-conscious has the movement become that some checkbooks look as much like fashion accessories as handbags, gloves and shoes.

New York's Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. recently took part in a Manhattan fashion show that the bank said was inspired by its "chic and color-coordinated checkbooks."

Hit of the show, said a spokesman for the bank, was a rain suit patterned after the bank's imitation cobra check set.

"Since we started our fashion checkbooks in May 1963 we have shown our biggest gain in checking accounts," said Hugh Brennan, an advertising executive of the bank.

Cleveland's National City Bank offers its customers checkbooks in styles that range from leopard to lizard. Colors include "ledger red" and "currency green."

Bank of America, the nation's largest, will sell you checks perfumed with Chanel No. 5.

Chase Manhattan Bank offers checkbooks in colors with fancy names such as "ascot gray," "harlequin white," "patent green," and "cadet blue."

While banks have sold colored checks and checkbooks for years, the trend to wide variety and high fashion as represented by plaid, leopard and lizard is relatively new and growing.

The fancy checkbook usually costs extra.

Some banking sources say the customer continues to buy his color-coordinated checks instead of receiving them free, relieving the bank of that expense.

"But most of all," one bank official said, "the checkbooks represent a more liberal, aggressive stance by banks. If people today wanted left-handed checks they would get them."

Hal Boyle is on vacation.

Egg Prices Down At Many Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eggs, citrus fruits and several fresh vegetables may be selling at bargain prices at many of the nation's food markets these days.

Beef, pork and poultry are in good supply generally, but there have been no outstanding price swings this week. In the Midwest, however, a variety of beef cuts and veal were expected to be attractive to shoppers.

Wholesale egg prices have been dropping toward some of their lowest prices in years at Chicago. In the New York City area, one major supermarket chain cut prices by 4 to 7 cents a dozen for this weekend.

A good citrus crop this season has lowered wholesale prices. Supplies are plentiful this week in nearly all parts of the nation.

Cabbage and lettuce also are abundant. Reported to be in good supply are green beans, carrots, onions, potatoes, sweet potatoes and tomatoes.

KENYATTA OFFERS FOREST THUGS AMNESTY

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Kenya's President Jomo Kenyatta, an old Mau Mau marauder himself, has given forest thugs until next Tuesday to surrender under amnesty or be subjected to merciless pursuit. His word that the war for Kenya's independence has been won and it's time for nation-building has reached "Field Marshal" Baimungi's jungle stronghold near Nyeri, and there have been some surrenders.

LEBANON BARS U.S. ACTRESS, TV STAR

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — U.S. actress Joanne Woodward and television star Steve Allen have been banned from entering Lebanon because of what the National News Agency called their pro-Israel activities. It did not elaborate.

BLUFFS VACATIONERS

BLUFFS — Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vortman and daughter, Janice, were in California December 28 through Jan. 2. They viewed the Rose Parade and Rose Bowl game New Year's Day in Pasadena and saw the new year in with Lawrence Welk at the Paladium. They flew by jet from St. Louis.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Here's one star who won't follow the trend of longtime leading ladies in playing shock films.
"You should see some of the scripts producers send me," says Myrna Loy. "They're absolutely unbelievable. I just send them back with no, thanks. I've gone through that stage in my career. In '13 Women' (RKO, 1932) I killed 13 women. So you can see I've done my bit."
She doesn't at all mind veering from the "perfect wife" which she played so brilliantly in films from "The Thin Man" to "Best Years of Our Lives." In fact, she did so in her last release, "From the Terrace."

"I played Paul Newman's alcoholic mother," she recalled. "It was certainly offbeat from what I have played before. But it wasn't macabre."
The fact that the Loy charm hasn't been seen on the screen for five years is Hollywood's loss, but not Myrna's. She has occupied the time with a new love: the theater.

She's back in town with the hit comedy, "Barefoot in the Park," which is appearing at the Huntington Hartford Theater. The stand is part of a cross-country tour that has permitted her to see America for the first time.

"It's true," she remarked at her Chateau Marmont suite. "I never really got a chance to see the United States before. During all those years at MGM I was working so hard I never got a chance to travel. We didn't make personal appearance tours the way they do today."

The theater is a late development in the Loy career, although she trained for it early.

"I went through the usual stage work in school — understudying Ophelia in 'Hamlet,' that sort of thing," she said. "I had elocution and singing lessons, all of which stood me in good stead when talkies came in."

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Both management and labor spokesmen have expressed belief that President Johnson seems to be on their side. And some political observers say that probably both are right, within limits.

Management spokesmen are pleased that he calls again for stability in wages and prices. Management is inclined to interpret holding the price line as largely dependent on wage stability. But labor is inclined to think that wages don't influence prices as much as does the desire for higher profits.

Labor spokesmen are pleased that the State of the Union message seemed to put the President on their side as against right-to-work laws and also as wanting unemployment benefits and minimum wage coverage extended.

But at least one hard-headed group — those who purchase materials for their companies — are on record as believing that the government guidelines as to what labor should ask and what management should then do about prices may not work in one basic industry, steel.

The steel committee of the National Association of Purchasing Agents says that 75 per cent of its members polled predict that steel union demands will be stiffened in coming weeks. They see the companies balking and look for a strike after May 1, lasting anywhere from four to six weeks.

The men who purchase steel products for their companies say they are more convinced than ever that they should build up the steel stocks of their companies as fast as possible, so plants won't be shut down soon after such a strike would start.

The government's guidelines have run into trouble off and on for more than a year now. The proposal is that labor should keep its wage increases, and management its price boosts, to an average of 3.2 per cent. This is the rate that the government figures manufacturing efficiency is growing, and that such an advance in wages or prices wouldn't upset the growth of the economy.

One trouble with this lies in the word average. Many industries claim their productivity isn't expanding at any such rate, and that therefore they can't absorb any 3.2 per cent rise in labor costs.

Other industries say they are more efficient than that and can settle on a different basis with the union. The auto labor pact a case in point. The unions got a contract well above the 3.2 per cent guideline. They said company cost cutting programs were well above the average. And the car makers did hold fairly close to the previous price line. Record profits helped them absorb higher labor costs. The average didn't apply.

Steel (and other industries) say they have no such cushion, and that any big boost in labor costs must mean higher prices.

If your oven-fried chicken isn't so crisp as you would like it, try using a higher temperature (400 or 425 degrees) than the usual moderate temperature (350 or 375 degrees) often suggested in recipes.

velop multipurpose regional medical complexes for an all-out attack on heart disease, cancer, stroke, and other major diseases."

Aides said 32 medical centers would be built in various parts of the country at a cost of $1.2 billion.

Another major new proposal would set up a system of grants "to help cover basic operating costs of our health profession schools in order that they may significantly expand both their capacity and the quality of their educational programs."

Johnson said tuition and fees paid by medical and dental students actually defray less than half the cost of their education. "We must face the fact," he said, "that high operating costs and shortages of operating funds are jeopardizing our health professions educational system."

Also included in Johnson's proposed health package were better health services for children and youth, improved community mental health services, more ambitious federal aid effort to rehabilitate the disabled, improved services for the mentally retarded, and legislation to tighten up federal control over barbiturates and other psycho-toxic drugs.

The President, in his message, put no dollar figure on the total cost of his proposals.

But he described the package as representing "attainable horizons of a greater society which a confident and prudent people can begin to build for the future."

First priority in the lengthy document went to health insurance for the aged.

"I ask," he said, "that our Social Security system — proved and tested by three decades of successful operation — be extended to finance the cost of basic health services. In this way, the spectre of catastrophic hospital bills can be lifted from the lives of our older citizens."

Johnson said that, in addition to such an insurance plan, "we should encourage private insurance to provide supplementary protection."

The President said his plan would "provide protection against the costs of hospital and post-hospital extended care, home nursing services, and outpatient diagnostic services."

He said it would in no way interfere "with the patient's complete freedom to select his doctor or hospital," and insurance protection would be offered those not covered by Social Security, with the cost being paid out of the federal budget.

In calling for greater efforts to combat heart disease, cancer and stroke, Johnson said, "We are challenged to meet and master the three killers which alone account for seven out of 10 deaths in the United States each year."

The chief executive proposed that the regional medical centers be equipped for the latest and best diagnostic methods, and have the most effective treatment facilities and skilled staffs.

At present, he said, hospitals in some sections are not equipped for open heart surgery.

gery, very high-voltage radiation therapy, or advanced methods for disease detection.

"It is not necessary," he said, "for each hospital or clinic to have such facilities, equipment or services, but it is essential that every patient requiring such specialized and expensive procedures and services have access to them. Multipurpose medical complexes can meet these needs."

He said the centers could save thousands of lives and help "turn otherwise hollow laboratory triumphs into health victories."

Johnson proposed that the complexes be affiliated with medical schools, teaching hospitals, and existing medical centers.

Johnson also asked for legislation that would allow the federal government to pay part of the costs of medical and dental care for children "in medically needy families." He said this would be similar to the Kerr-Mills program for the aged.

"Children in families with incomes of less than $2,000 are able to visit a doctor only half as frequently as those in families with incomes of more than $7,000," he said.

In the mental health field, Johnson called for a five-year grant program to help hire personnel for community mental health centers offering comprehensive services.

And he asked for authority to set up a program of direct loans and loan guarantees to help groups of medical men build and equip facilities for comprehensive group practice.

Johnson asked also for new laws authorizing "safety regulation of cosmetics and therapeutic devices by premarketing examination by the Food and Drug Administration."

Many of the other items in Johnson's health package represented proposed expansion or extension of existing programs.

The President promised in his presidential campaign to give top priority this year to a drive for medical insurance for the elderly keyed to the Social Security program.

He said in his State of the Union message to Congress Monday night that "a just nation" should throw open to the elderly "the city of promise" by providing hospital care under Social Security.

"I propose," he said then, "we begin a massive attack on crippling and killing diseases."

Remap Bills Revive Question

take off into another county on township or census tract boundaries.

Some counties are split in the Democratic proposals so as to be parts of three Senate districts. This happens in Lake and DuPage counties.

Sen. W. Russell Arrington of Evanston, Republican president pro tem, said GOP leaders will determine whether the Kerners stands fully behind the Democratic proposals.

If, so, Arrington said, Republicans may not introduce counter proposals on which they have been working — but which are not expected before the end of the month — and instead offer amendments to the administration maps so that a resolution of the issue could be reached sooner.

Republicans assert the Illinois State Constitution forbids overlapping of county lines. Up to now, Chicago and suburban districts have been kept separate.

Democrats take the stance that federal court rulings on reapportionment state one consideration which overrules others: lawmakers must represent districts containing about the same number of people.

This population factor produced in the Democratic proposals what was expected: A heavier allocation of lawmakers to metropolitan areas containing population masses.

Chicago and Cook County and the northeastern metropolitan area show the greatest effect of this in the Democratic plans.

ACCUSED SLAYER REMAINS IN CELL AS FAMILY BURIED

WILMETTE, Ill. (AP) — Accused triple-slayer Harrison Crouse, 18, remained in his cell as his parents and sister were buried Wednesday.

Morris Crouse, 48; his wife, Norma, 48; and their 16-year-old daughter, Sally, were shot and killed Saturday with a .22-caliber rifle in their Wilmette home.

Harrison Crouse, police said, has admitted the slayings, but could give no reason.

Rites were held in the First Presbyterian Church of Wilmette. The bodies were buried in a Skokie cemetery.

Warden Jack Johnson of the Cook County Jail said Harrison made no request to attend the funeral.

The youth was a freshman at the University of Illinois.

tion orally last Friday that their government was withdrawing because Malaysia — which Sukarno has sworn to crush — was admitted to the Security Council.

However, written notice of the withdrawal has not been delivered. There has been speculation that the Indonesians are having second thoughts.

The Indonesian Information Ministry minimized the British military buildup in Malaysia and urged Indonesians not to be scared. The ministry in a statement accused Malaysia of "deliberately exaggerating" the buildup and said it was "an excuse for eventual reciprocal attack on Indonesia."

Apollo Manned Moon Program Has First Delay

To save weight, the Apollo spacecraft will not be used — only a nose cone, Lee said.

The tanks carry 223,500 pounds of fuel and will be filled. In earth orbital trips using the three-stage Apollo spacecraft, the tanks will be only partly filled, Lee said, to reduce weight.

The Saturn 4B will be the third stage on the mighty Saturn 5 rocket and will hurl itself and the Apollo spacecraft into earth orbit.

After four and one-half hours circling the earth, the Saturn 4B's engine will be started and its 200,000 pounds of thrust will fling the spacecraft toward the moon.

"We need to know how the fuel acts in a weightless condition," Lee said. "The only way we can do that is to send it into space."

The Saturn 1 family of rockets has been one of the brighter spots in the U.S. space picture. The 1.5 million-pound thrust rocket has been fired seven times without mishap. The Saturn 1B is an advanced and more powerful model.

Lee said the unmanned earth orbital test of the LEM replacing the third manned mission was scheduled for 1967.

UNITED RITES TODAY FOR CHURCH WORKER, MRS. C. FLAGLER

CHICAGO (AP) — Funeral services were to be held today for Mrs. Gertrude Flagler, educator, and church and civic leader. She was 82 when she died Tuesday.

President of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers from 1931-34, Mrs. Flagler was a former member of the Methodist Church's Women's Society of Christian Service.

Mrs. Flagler was also a former chairman of the Illinois Education Committee and a vice president of the Salvation Army Board.

She was chairman of the Save Our Schools Committee in July 1933 when she directed one of the largest mass meetings ever held in defense of education.

The meeting drew 25,000 people to the Chicago Stadium.

Mrs. Flagler also served a five-year term on the Human Relations Commission.

INVENTOR JACUZZI DIES

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Joseph Jacuzzi, 73, international industrialist and a developer of the Jacuzzi jet whirlpool pump, died Tuesday after a long illness.

Jacuzzi was one of five brothers who together built one of the first cabin monopolies in America, revolutionized agricultural irrigation with an artesian pump, and experimented with atomic energy. The brothers were born in Udine Province in Italy and came to this country between 1907 and 1919.

Sen. R. Long Began Life As Huey Long III

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the new assistant Senate Democratic leader, began life as Huey Pierce Long III.

The name didn't stick. His father, the famed Huey P. Long of Louisiana, objected to it.

What happened, Sen. Long recounted today, was that he was born Nov. 3, 1918, while his father was out campaigning for election as State Public Service commissioner. So his mother named him Huey Pierce Long III, and the birth was so registered.

But the father — who served as governor and later as senator from Louisiana before his death in 1935 — objected, saying he didn't want his son to have to be responsible for any of his mistakes. He picked out the name Russell Billie Long, Billie being the maiden name of Huey Long's mother.

So the boy grew up as Russell B. Long without anything ever being done to change the official record.

Then came World War II, Russell joined the Navy, and the discrepancy in names came to light.

"You know the Navy," Sen. Long said. "Everything has to be in order — in triplicate."

So he went to court and had his name officially recorded as Russell B. Long.

Long is the only U.S. senator in history whose mother and father both served in the Senate. After his father's assassination in Baton Rouge Sept. 10, 1935, his mother was appointed to the Senate and served out the remainder of Huey Long's term.

Milan Cathedral Completed After 567 Years Work

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Milan's majestic cathedral, one of the largest in Christendom, was completed Wednesday after 567 years of devoted labor.

The Most Rev. Giovanni Colombo, successor to Pope Paul VI as archbishop of Milan, unveiled the last of the five massive bronze doors, blessed it and prayed: "May this door be one to hope and salvation."

The eight-ton portal, 16 feet high, was decorated by modern artist Lucian Minguzzi with more than 130 human figures in the Impressionist style — a 20th century addition to the soaring Gothic structure.

Wednesday was the Feast of the Epiphany.

Although the cathedral was dedicated to the Virgin Mary when construction started in 1397, it is known in Italy and abroad the world only as "Il Duomo" — The Cathedral.

The cathedral in downtown Milan is 515 feet long and 216 feet wide. The facade is 184 feet high and the tallest of its many spires is 357 feet.

Windsors Fly Back To New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor, who almost never travel by air, flew back Wednesday from Texas, where he underwent major surgery three weeks ago.

"I feel fine, thank you, very well," the former British monarch told newsmen at Kennedy Airport after a 1,100-mile jet flight from Houston.

Asked if he expected to resume his customary social life, the duke, 70, replied: "Social activity? Oh, not for a while."

On Dec. 16, Dr. Michael DeBakey, Houston surgeon, operated on the duke, substituting a synthetic tube for a section of artery that had ballooned to the size of a grapefruit.

Million appropriation and a House bill asked $2.9 million for the counties to supplement a previous $800,000 appropriation which fell short of the expenses.

No estimates have been made on what the final costs will be. Rep. William Pollack, R-Chicago, brought in a controversial bill to impose a tax ceiling on the Chicago corporation fund.

The limit would be $1.16 for each $100 of assessed property valuation.

Rep. Charles Clabaugh, R-Champaign, filed a bill to make it legal for school districts to provide buses for students attending athletic contests.

Rep. John Conolly, R-Gurnee, submitted a measure to make it a crime for anyone to inhale glue with the purpose of becoming intoxicated.

Foreign Aid Foe Passman Waits To See Budget

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Otto E. Passman, arch-foe of the foreign aid program, shows signs of mellowing.

The Louisiana Democrat said in an interview he would not propose any cuts in the program this year until he sees how much money President Johnson wants for it.

"I am convinced that the President is sincere in his announced determination to cut out the waste in foreign aid," Passman said. "I am going to give him the benefit of the doubt because there is every indication that he means what he says. I am going to help him find all the waste there is in the foreign aid program."

For the last 11 years, Passman has headed a House Appropriations subcommittee that handles foreign aid financing. He heads the same group this year.

"How much do you claim to have cut the program during those 11 years?" he was asked.

"It is not a claim; it is a fact," he replied. "Congress has cut the program at least $8 billion, and it should have done better."

Says Antipoverty Support Job For Churches

CHICAGO (AP) — Bringing evangelism into the home and supporting the nation's antipoverty program are jobs for today's churches, according to a Methodist minister and a government official.

The Rev. G. Weldon Gatlin of Nashville, Tenn., told the Methodist Convocation on Evangelism Wednesday that the church had its greatest period of growth "when evangelism took place in the home."

The Rev. Mr. Gatlin urged 1,800 ministers and laymen to bring the sacrament of Holy Communion into the home along with a service of dedication.

"The home is God's first love," he said.

Dr. Willis D. Weatherford Jr., director of volunteer assistance in the Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), told the convocation that the church can best aid the nation's antipoverty program by "incorporating the poor within its fellowship."

He said churches could help by suggesting candidates for the "domestic peace corps" and by supporting community programs.

Johnson To Ask $1 Billion For Health Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's health message to Congress Thursday reportedly will propose an unprecedented $1-billion to $1.5-billion program to improve health services to children. It would be spread over 5 years.

Informed sources said the message would also renew Johnson's call for a hospital insurance program for the aged linked to Social Security.

The children's health proposal could cost about $150 million in the initial year, the sources said.

This would be a turn toward emphasis on health services for children, particularly those in need, patterned somewhat after expanding federal programs of recent years to provide health services for the aged.

But the message also will propose creation of a system of regional medical centers and local treatment stations for heart disease, cancer, and stroke, which are primarily diseases of adults.

Estimated cost of this program over five years is about $1.2 billion, informed sources said.

The proposed increase in health services for needy children was described as an outgrowth of concern in official circles that not enough attention is being paid to prevention of disease and disability and correction of afflictions among children.

Steel stocks were notably weak, with U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Jones & Laughlin, the top four producers, all turning lower.

Also on the downside were Du Pont, lower by about 2 after earlier strong gains prompted by stock split speculation, and Westinghouse Electric, down fractionally.

Prices were higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, on the way to a third advance in a row, steadied on higher ground late this afternoon after see-sawing around mid-day.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5 million shares, best turnover for the week.

The rally still appeared to be coasting on momentum supplied by President Johnson's hearty appraisal of the nation's future. It shrugged off some economic clouds on the horizon.

However, the uptrend was perceptibly less steep than in the past two daily trading sessions.

General Electric, Polaroid, IBM and International Harvester were among standout performers, posting gains of 2 points to beyond 6.

IBM was ahead 6½. Corporate bond prices advanced. U.S. Treasury bonds edged lower.

Xerox, one of the most traded issues, was ahead better than a point as trading moved toward the close.

Aircrafts airlines and railroad groups were among the strongest despite a mild sinking spell suffered by Pennsylvania Railroad.

Steel stocks were notably weak, with U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Jones & Laughlin, the top four producers, all turning lower.

Also on the downside were Du Pont, lower by about 2 after earlier strong gains prompted by stock split speculation, and Westinghouse Electric, down fractionally.

Prices were higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Stratton Trial On Tax Charge Resumes Today

CHICAGO (AP) — The trial of former Gov. William G. Stratton on charges of evading $47,000 in taxes during his final term in office is scheduled to resume today in U.S. District Court.

Stratton, a Republican, who served as governor from 1952 to 1960, is accused of filing false returns to evade taxes on unreported income of $93,595 from 1957 through 1960.

Some of Stratton's income was political contributions diverted to his personal use, Vincent P. Russo, chief government prosecutor, asserted in an opening statement Wednesday.

Russo said the government would base its case on an examination of Stratton's net worth and non-deductible expenditures from 1949 through 1960. He said this was necessary because Stratton's books and records are "not adequate for correctly reconstructing his taxable income."

"In such a case as this," Russo said, "the government is required to prove a likely source of income or must negate all possible sources of non-taxable income. We will do both."

Russo said that Stratton put up $10,000 in cash that was not traceable "to any known or determinable source" when he purchased, with a Robert Patton, a 326-acre farm on the Sangamon River about 10 miles northwest of Springfield.

He said Stratton paid another $25,000 of allegedly untraceable cash for "the construction of what he (Stratton) is pleased to call a lodge." Total cost of the lodge was $83,000, the government lawyer said.

BODY OF POET T. S. ELIOT CREMATED TODAY

LONDON (AP) — The body of poet T.S. Eliot was cremated today after a funeral service at the Kensington Parish Church of St. Stephen's where he worshipped for 30 years.

Next week the ashes will find their last resting place in the tiny church in the Somerset village of East Coker, which the poet immortalized in one of his greatest poems — but a village which hardly knows him.

Eliot died Monday at 76. The five-minute funeral service was a private affair attended by his widow and about 60 close friends and relatives.

East Coker was the setting for a poem that was later incorporated in "Four Quartets" and became one of the most successful poems of its time.

THE STORY: Hsu Chin Kwang, the Hong Kong authority on jade is unable to help Milo March who is seeking trace of a valuable stolen jade necklace.

I thanked him for his time, praised his tea and his house, and bowed myself out. In the hall I was again joined by his daughter.

"My father talked with you for a long time," she said. "He must have been pleased by your visit. It is unfortunate that he could not tell you what you wished to know."

I looked at her in surprise. "How did you know?"
"I was listening from the next room," she said. She smiled at my expression. "No, my father did not know and would not approve. He believes that a woman should only be decorative. I have been a big disappointment to him. He had three daughters by his first wife, then divorced her and married my mother. When I was born, I believe he resigned himself to the fact that the gods did not intend him to have a son."

"I think it would be impossible to improve over the present result," I said.

"Thank you, Mr. March."

"You have one advantage over me," I told her. "I know that you are his daughter, but I don't know your name."

"Mei Hsu. You see, I am modern and arrange my name in the Western fashion. My father does not approve of it."

I glanced at my watch and was surprised to see that I had been there well over an hour. "May I phone for a taxi?" I asked.

"When I knew your conversation with my father was almost over, I made the call for you."

"Thanks," I said. "Do you always anticipate what a man is going to want?"
"Often," she said. She looked at me and smiled, and there were impish lights in her black eyes. "For example, you are about to tell me that you would like to see me again, perhaps to suggest that I show you around Hong Kong."

"Okay," I said. "As a matter of fact, I was going to tell you that I'm fond of Chinese food—which is true—but I don't like tourist traps. Any suggestions?"
"Have you ever been to the boat restaurants of Aberdeen?"

"No."

"I think you will like them."

"Will you go with me?" I asked.

She nodded. "My father would not approve, but I will go."

"I'm glad he doesn't have much influence," I said.

"You do not have a car, do you?" she asked.

"I will have by tomorrow night. Here at about seven."

"That will be fine." She opened the door. "Good night, Mr. March."

She was right about the taxi, too. It was waiting in front of the house. I said good night and left. The taxi took me directly to the hotel.

I stood in front of the hotel for a minute, undecided what to do. I turned to go in, and found the way barred by a burly Chinese. He was well dressed, but the suit wasn't tailored well enough to conceal completely the outlines of the gun he wore under one arm.

"Are you," he asked in Chinese, "the foreign devil who is called Milo March?"

"Yes," I admitted.

"You are to come with me."

"Where?"

He showed his teeth in a wide smile. "Po Hing. It is said that you are looking for him only today. I have come to take you to him."

I had gone into the criminal section of Hong Kong and asked about Po Hing. What had I expected—a box of chocolates?

I didn't have a gun on me—or a permit to carry the gun that was up in my room. There were plenty of people on the street, but none of them was paying any attention to me. On the other hand, I told myself, this was what I'd been asking for.

I went with him down the street, his car, a small European make, was parked about a block away. There was another Chinese at the wheel. I climbed in the back, followed by the man who had accosted me.

The car was soon winding up into the hills in the same general direction from which I had just returned. But it turned off and stopped in front of a house on a lower terrace. It wasn't so big a house as the one I had visited earlier, but it did show that Po Hing, whatever he was doing, was making a buck.

The big Chinese and I went up to the house. He escorted me to a room off in one wing. In it was a fat Chinese, dressed in an expensive silk suit.

New Military Planes

The notion that all of our atomic eggs are being placed in the missiles basket has just received a couple of major setbacks. On the 21st day of December the once-controversial TFX fighter plane made a successful maiden flight. The very next day, President Johnson ordered the development of an enormous military transport plane capable of hauling 500 armed troops to almost any point on earth.

So much has been said about the TFX aircraft that the public is generally familiar with what it is expected to do. The gigantic new transport is something else again. The plan to develop this, the largest aircraft in the world, comes as a surprise. The surprise is a welcome one, however.

That is so because the decision to acquire such a plane attests a continuing interest, at the highest Pentagon level, in improving our ability to deal quickly and effectively with brush-fire crises before they can escalate into major wars. With such a plane, capable of moving troops and heavy equipment anywhere within 5,000 to 7,000 miles, the armed forces will have much greater flexibility than is now the case.

This flexibility in itself is no guarantee that the big war can be averted. It is not always possible to put out the "brush fires" promptly, as our experience in South Viet Nam so well demonstrates. But the mobility that the new transport offers will improve our chances of wetting down the trouble spots as they develop.

Hope For The Newborn

The death of President and Mrs. Kennedy's newborn son in August 1963 focused nationwide attention on its cause — the "respiratory disease syndrome," often known as RDS. The general public had not been much aware of this condition, but doctors had long been familiar with it. RDS kills some 25,000 newborn babies in the United States each year. Most of them are premature infants, as the Kennedy boy was.

Heartening word has just come from the University of Minnesota, where Dr. Edward C. DeFoe and Dr. Barbara Burke have made progress at discovering the apparent cause of this hitherto mysterious condition. They believe that the characteristic collapse of the affected babies' alveoli, the thousands of tiny air cells in the lung, can be traced to a hormone imbalance in mother and child.

Thus far, the theory is supported only by tests on laboratory animals. Many questions remain unanswered, and it will be some time before findings can be applied to human beings. But already there is strong reason to hope that hormone treatment can eventually be developed. There is a good chance that before long the number of infants that succumb to RDS will be strikingly reduced.

Woman Have Been Known to Kill Husbands for Lot Less

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine who ought to know, told me recently that when a husband dies, all the family debts, such as department store bills, time-payments on appliances, cars and house mortgages are automatically cancelled — provided each account is under $450.

I had never heard of this before, but my friend assures me it is true. Will you please tell me if my friend has correct information? —LEARNING EVERY DAY

Dear Learning: Your friend does not have correct information and I hope you will set her straight at once. Women have been known to kill their husbands for a lot less.

Dear Ann Landers: Don't tell me to see a psychiatrist. If I could afford a psychiatrist I wouldn't be writing to Ann Landers.

We have four children under ten years of age. My father-in-law lives with us, and he is the problem. He works nights and hangs around the house all day telling me how to cook and clean. He is a retired Army man and has told our kids all the dirty jokes from the last three wars.

When I try to discipline the boys he butts in and takes their side. He slips them money and lets them puff on his cigarettes for "laughs."

I've told my husband how I feel but he says he doesn't want to offend his dad by asking him to move. My father-in-law is in good health, has a nice income and could live anywhere. What he pays us every month comes in handy, but I'd be happy to do without it. Please give me some help. —MRS. OVER- RULED

Dear Mrs.: Your father-in-law should live elsewhere. The welfare of your children comes first and you can tell your husband I said so.

Dear Ann Landers: We promised our daughter that when she was 16 she could begin to date. Well, Arleen had her 16th birthday two months ago and now we must install a second telephone to handle her social life.

She has a date lined up every Saturday night for the next three months. My husband and I don't know what to make of it. She already has a date for the Easter Bunny hop and a Prom date for May. Is this normal?

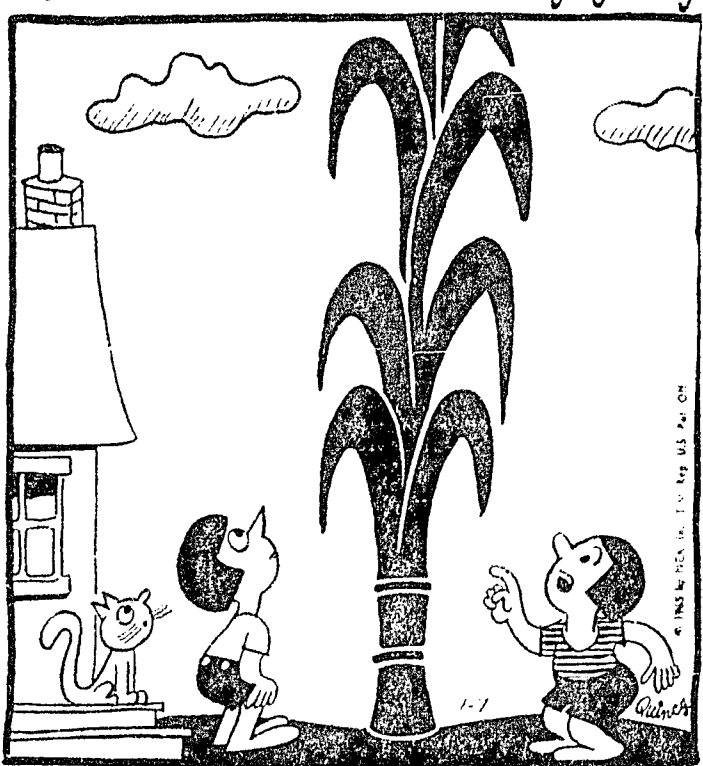

Arleen is an honor student and excels in languages and math. She practices the piano regularly and does her share of housework. She goes only with boys we know and they all seem to be gentlemen. We can't think of a reason to curtail her dating except that we are afraid it is not good for a girl to be so popular at this age. It newspaper enclosing a stamped, may hurt her reputation.

Sea Level Canal Plan Is Realistic

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Johnson's announcement of plans to renegotiate the 1903 Panama Canal Treaty was timed hopefully to take the wind out of anti-Panama government, anti-U.S. riots being planned in Panama for early January.

There's now considerable feeling at the Pentagon and the State Department that it would be wise for the United States to make sizable concessions in these negotiations.

Numbers of military men and diplomats argue that the dispute with Panama could endanger the existence of a basically friendly Panamanian government. Worse yet, they claim, it's causing raised eyebrows throughout Latin America.

"We're caught in a box," says one military man. "We're so big and strong and Panama is so small and weak. The dispute therefore looks so lopsided that the Latins are siding with the Panamanians regardless of who's right or who's wrong. We're ending up looking like villains."

Back of this willingness to make concessions to Panama lies a hard chunk of reality. The new canal the United States is planning will be a sea level canal. It will require few operating and maintenance men and little policing. A canal zone won't be necessary for security. Further, the old canal and its zone will be obsolete.

Since there will be no locks in the new sea level canal, it will be difficult for Red agents to sabotage and equally difficult for Communist missiles to blast it out of action for more than a two-week stretch.

The present canal, by contrast, would be duck soup for agents. Homemade bombs could knock out its locks with ease. A nuclear missile could put the Panama Canal out of operation from four to seven years.

Economically, the Panama Canal is already outdated. Some of the new large commercial and naval vessels are too large to pass through the locks. Some ships are forced to wait in line for hours before they can even get into the canal. Once in, the 50-mile crossing is slow.

A sea level canal would have a heavy capacity and fast transit time. Operating costs would be low.

By negotiating with three countries for possible routes for the new canal, the President's men hope to get several Latin countries competing with each other for a chance at the waterway. The aim, of course, is to put the United States in a very favorable light—granting the canal as a favor rather than wresting it as a concession.

Why do the President's men think the Latins will compete? Because whichever country gets the new canal will reap millions in indirect benefits, enough to give a hefty lift to the standard of living in a small country. Contrarywise, if Panama loses the canal, her economy will suffer a heavy blow.

School And You—

Teacher Asked for It

By SUSAN LIGHT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LIGHT: I hope you can give my daughter and me some advice that will relieve our minds. To put it mildly, we're both in a dither.

Judy is a junior and a member of the editorial board of the school literary magazine. Since she had served as a sophomore apprentice, her position this year was supposedly assured.

A new English teacher became faculty advisor, however, and decided to make the magazine more "arty." The old board members had to try out again, with the underclassmen. Each candidate had to write a criticism of the same article, author unknown.

I thought Judy's criticism hit the nail squarely on the head. She pointed out the piece as a whole was "ambiguous and meaningless—a hodgepodge of unrelated words and ideas."

In conclusion, she said that the author might be good if he'd only be natural and take off his "mask of false sophistication."

She found out later that the teacher had written the piece herself, and considered it a literary masterpiece! All the other students who made the staff had said it was wonderful.

Should she apologize? —DIS- TRAUGHT MOTHER

ANSWER: Why should she apologize? Any teacher who would leave herself wide open as this woman did, deserves what she got.

Let's look at the bright side. Since Judy is still on the staff, the teacher apparently leaned over backward to be fair.

Perhaps she has a sense of humor, even where her own ego is involved. If so, Judy's comments would make a good conversation piece for her in the teachers' lounge.

And if she took Judy's criticism seriously, she might possibly become a better writer.

There is always the possibility, too, that the teacher will change schools or classes before next year.

Think of what a good story this will make for Judy to tell her children and grandchildren! In the meantime, don't lose any sleep.

Please send your school problems to Susan Light in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight presidents have died in office and 16 times the country has been left without a vice president.

Luckily, each time a president died there was a vice president to take his place and serve out the term, although this left the vice presidency vacant. But seven other vice presidents died in office, and one resigned.

Thus the country has been repeatedly faced with the twin question: "What happens when a president dies and there is no vice president?"

Congress has skipped around the problem from the beginning, but this year it will probably, at last, come up with a solution. It's already headed toward one, although this new Congress is less than a week old.

President Johnson in his State of the Union message Monday night promised to suggest laws to "ensure the continuity of leadership should the president become disabled or die."

He knows the problem first hand. The country has been without a vice president since he went into the White House after President John F. Kennedy's death Nov. 22, 1963 and will be until Jan. 20 when Hubert H. Humphrey becomes vice president.

Johnson got a quick response to the suggestion in his message but only because the ground-work was laid in 1954.

Last September the Senate by a 65-0 vote approved a proposed constitutional amendment intended to settle the two questions on succession. But the busy House failed to act.

That meant it had to be done all over again in this new Congress. And Tuesday enough senators to pass a succession-disability measure promptly offered it.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., introduced it for himself and 66 Senate co-sponsors, the exact two-thirds majority needed for Senate approval if all 100 senators were present and voting the day the decision is made.

It's similar to what the Senate approved last year: letting the president nominate a new vice president when that office becomes vacant, provided a majority of House and Senate in joint session approve the choice.

Also, if a president couldn't perform his duties, the Bayh measure would let the vice president take over as president until the president recovered, again provided a majority of the Cabinet approved.

The Constitution is vague on the disability problem, merely saying that when a president can't perform his duties his powers shall "devolve upon the vice president." But it didn't say how. And that's been the puzzle.

Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Kennedy had an understanding with their vice presidents — Richard M. Nixon and Lyndon B. Johnson — about what to do in case of presidential disability.

But this was an agreement between a couple of men each time and didn't have the force of law. The fact that it didn't was proof of how Congress had ducked the responsibility of doing something about it so long.

Under present law, the speaker of the House of Representatives would become president if there was no vice president and the president died.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Don't Stir Ulcers Up With

Needless Cancer Worries

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., and morning because the press sure in my eyeballs is 27.

Q—Can a duodenal ulcer turn into cancer? What is the best way to treat the ulcer?

A—Although persons with cancer of the digestive tract frequently develop peptic ulcers, there is no evidence that duodenal ulcers become cancerous. The same cannot be said for ulcers in the stomach.

With careful diet, giving up smoking, appropriate drugs and the cultivation of a calmer attitude, duodenal ulcers usually heal promptly.

Freezing the stomach, although of value in specially selected cases, is not suitable for routine treatment. For chronic recurrent ulcers and for complications the treatment is surgical.

Q—In a recent column you said that people with acne should not use iodized salt. My daughter, 12, has a bad case of acne. If she doesn't get iodized salt, won't she develop a goiter?

A—That would depend on how much iodine is present in the water supply and in her food. Although iodized salt may aggravate acne, this is a minor consideration compared to a goiter.

If you live in the Great Lakes region, where the water supply is deficient in iodine, by all means give your children iodized salt.

There are other ways of treating acne, and your child should outgrow it in a few years in any case.

Q—I am using Isopto Carpine drops for my eyes night

I am also taking Bardase twice a day. Could this be the reason for my ocular tension? What is the normal pressure?

A—Isopto Carpine is a brand of pilocarpine and is useful in the treatment of glaucoma or threatened glaucoma. Normal tension in the eyeballs varies from 15 to 25. Although your tension is only slightly elevated, it should be checked at least twice a year.

Bardase is a mixture containing belladonna, phenobarbital and a digestive enzyme. It is given chiefly for mucous colitis or irritable colon, ulcerative colitis and peptic ulcer.

Since it will aggravate glaucoma you should stop taking it at once.

Q—I am 25. After an X ray my doctor told me I had malposition of the intestines. Will I have to have an operation?

A—Medical and surgical textbooks have not described this condition for many years. Variations from the so-called normal position are extremely common and are of no significance. They are not the cause of whatever symptoms you may be having.

Unless there is some other reason, no operation should be performed.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Busy Phone, Dull Life

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When a woman spends a good part of each day chatting over the phone with friends, chances are her own life is dull. These calls let in a little sunshine.

The husband who complains about the time and money his spouse spends on the phone might cure her habit by putting a little fun into her life.

If monotony causes a woman to live vicariously through her friends, her husband should accept some of the blame and do his bit to change the picture.

Maybe she is sick to death of four walls and would like to go out in the evening occasionally.

Maybe she needs a little spending money of her own, to do with as she likes.

Maybe she ought to have a day off occasionally, with dad taking care of the kids and finding out that staying at home can be lonely.

Maybe she needs some kind of transportation, so that she can get out once in a while when the walls begin to close in on her.

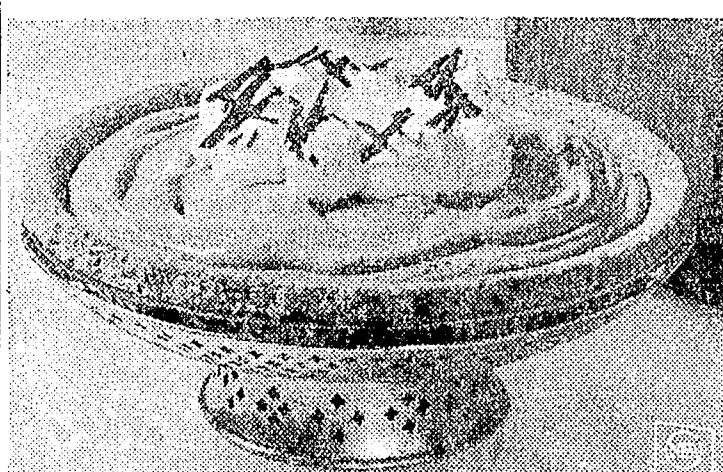

Or maybe she simply needs someone to talk to, because her husband gives her that silent treatment night after night as he sits behind the newspaper.

Any woman whose life is busy, interesting and happy won't want or need to spend her day indulging in small talk.

Chocolate Velvet

Pie Thrills Cool Set

CHOCOLATE VELVET PIE fits into a scheme of elegance.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

At-home parties with a touch of elegance—not fanciness—are in vogue. The "cool" set, both in town and country, entertain with ease, grace and without confusion or last-minute franticness. The new rule is careful planning, elegant simplicity and as much ahead of time food preparation as possible.

This cool and velvety chocolate pie fits into that scheme deliciously.

Chocolate Velvet Pie
1 package (4 oz.) chocolate fudge pudding and pie filling
1 1/2 cups milk
1 envelope whipped topping mix
1/2 cup cold milk
1 baked 8-inch graham cracker crust, cooled

Combine crumbly and sugar. Or use 1/2 cup heavy cream: whip until peaks will form and substitute for prepared dessert. Combine pie filling mix and 1 1/2 cups milk in a saucepan. Blend well. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Place wax paper on surface. Chill, in refrigerator, at least 2 hours.

Prepare dessert topping with 1/2 cup cold milk as directed on package. Beat chilled pie filling with a spoon or rotary beater until smooth. Blend 1 cup prepared dessert topping into pie filling. Spoon into pie crust. Chill until firm. Garnish with remaining prepared dessert topping. Sprinkle with chopped nuts, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Combine crumbs and sugar. Add softened butter and mix well. Press firmly with back of a spoon over bottom and sides of an 8-inch pie pan.

For a baked Crumb Crust: Bake at 375 degrees for 8 minutes. Cool thoroughly before filling. For an unbaked Crumb Crust: Chill 1 hour. Fill.

William Hemphill, 44, who gave his Jacksonville address as 948 West Morton, entered his plea Wednesday morning and returned at 2 o'clock in the afternoon for a two-hour hearing and passing of sentence.

Circuit Judge Paul Verticchio passed sentence after State's Attorney Charles J. Ryan made the 20 to 40 years recommendation before the court.

To Old 49th District—

First Remap Plan Adds Brown, Jersey

By DICK EMERY
Statehouse Correspondent
SPRINGFIELD—Remap legislation sponsored by the Kerner administration was introduced by House Democrats Wednesday during the opening session of the 74th General Assembly.

The proposal would add Brown and Jersey counties to the old 49th district and designate it the 52nd district. It would have a population of approximately 172,000.

The plan to remap the Senate would combine Morgan county with Pike, Scott, Greene, Calhoun, Macoupin, Montgomery and Bond counties into the 51st district with a 175,000 population.

Previously Morgan county was in the 45th district with Cass and Sangamon counties. Under this proposal the Senate would retain its 58 districts.

The Senate immediately began debating whether legislation should be considered this week.

Senator W. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston) has prefiled bills governing revision of the constitutional article on revenue. Wednesday he called for immediate consideration of the measures on revenue reform and the Senate voted to meet again at 10 a.m. today to start the legislative machinery rolling on this piece of legislation.

Rowe Comments
Rep. Harris Rowe (R-Jacksonville) said Wednesday, "I wish we could get going in the Hemphill was represented in court by Attorney Richard Yates Rowe Jr.

Hemphill took the stand during the hearing on mitigation in the afternoon and was questioned by Mr. Rowe and cross-examined by Mr. Ryan.

Hemphill told the court that he and Miss Johnson were not married although they had lived as husband and wife about four years. He also stated that he had been drinking prior to the murder.

He was charged in the fatal shooting of Miss Eleanor L. Johnson, 23, of 948 West Morton at the K of C Hall on the morning of December 13.

Admits Shooting
Hemphill admitted the shooting in a statement to authorities immediately after the incident and has been confined to the county jail without bond since that time.

Police said Hemphill fired three shots from a .38 caliber pistol, two of which struck Miss Johnson in the head.

Hemphill drew upon his fuzzy memory to recount his actions on the night of December 12 for the court. He said he left the dance because he was angered and wanted to avoid a fight with Miss Johnson. He said he visited the House of Clay tavern and then got the murder weapon from the trunk of his car. He later returned to the dance with the pistol.

He told the court that he remembered that when he walked into the room where Miss Johnson was seated that he saw her kissing one of the two men with her. Hemphill said he became further angered when she tried to run from him and the next thing he remembered was holding the pistol in his hand and the girl slumped in a chair.

After the shooting he walked to the custodian and surrendered the pistol and waited for the police to arrive.

State Calls Four
State's Attorney Ryan called four witnesses to testify briefly concerning facts surrounding the case: William D. Jarrell, court reporter; George Bannman, K of C acting custodian; Chief of Police Charles Runkel; and Coroner John B. Martin.

Defense Attorney Rowe testified as a character witness for Hemphill and told the court that his client had felt remorse since the incident occurred.

Hemphill was taken from the court room by sheriff's deputies and will be sent to state prison within a day or so.

the five districts, are given to the youths who score highest in their 4-H Club activity, personal development, and leadership records.

There will be a special panel session, moderated by Dr. Thorne, head of the U. I. Agronomy department. Melvin E. Sims, president of FS Services, will present the awards and Ward Lawler, manager of the FS Plant Food Division will serve as master of ceremonies.

Someone's Sure To Come

If You're Lost Just Cook Some Feijoada

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — If you get lost in the Brazilian jungle and need help start cooking a feijoada. Sure enough, someone will show up to tell you you're doing it the wrong way. Feijoada — pronounced foy-zho-ah-da — is a favorite Brazilian dish eaten once a week, usually on Saturday. It's a formidable black bean stew that the uninitiated may look as if it will devour him instead. Not a light or easy-to-make dish, feijoada is the champ of cookbook recipes — and as controversial. Much jest goes with the stew, usually by its most passionate devotees. Some say, for instance, that the recipe calls for everything in the kitchen that isn't moving except members of the immediate family. Fifteen different varieties of meat, mostly salted or smoked, and a small mountain of black beans go into a "feijoada completa," as it is called. It takes two days to assemble. Depending on the "favorite" recipe given you, the meats may include salt pork, seasoned pork sausage, ham, dried beef, salted tongue, tripe, pork shoulder and pork ribs and pigs' knuckles, feet and ears. The quantities vary down from two pounds. The meats and beans are soaked overnight. The following day, they are drained, placed in a large vat, covered with water and boiled for several hours, or until the beans are soft. Chopped onions, parsley, tomatoes, bay leaf and a well-mashed clove of garlic are added in two tablespoons of fat. When the onions are brown, a small portion of the black beans is added to the mixture in the frying pan. The beans are mashed until the sauce thickens. This is then returned to the big kettle for blending with the stew. When ready to serve, the meat is removed from the kettle first, sliced and arranged on a platter. The beans are served from a soup tureen. Usually, feijoada is served with generous helpings of white rice, hot manioc flour, hot cold lard greens and slices of orange. A dash of fiery hot pepper called malagueta is also available. Eating feijoada, almost a ritual, is often launched with a shot of cachaca — pronounced ca-sha'-sa — a powerful relative of rum. This, critics say, served to partly numb the senses and warn the stomach.

Landlord Puts Poverty War On Personal Basis

EDITOR'S NOTE — A one-landlord social service. An economic paradox in Kansas. An antinuity drive in California. These are in an intriguing miscellany of reports from varied sections of the U.S. scene.

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The generals leading a bureaucratic army into the war against poverty might do well to keep an eye on a skirmish being fought by a Baltimore landlord.

The landlord, Howard Offit, has set up his own social welfare agency for the 125 families which occupy houses he owns.

Three months ago he hired a social worker, Jane Cullen Mathieu, to help him "prove to some people that civic renewal could be done on a private basis."

Since then, Miss Mathieu, 30, has set up a sort of neighborhood settlement house. She established two steering committees to coordinate neighborhood activities. She began tutorial service, published a six-page monthly newsletter for tenants, started a savings club — pooling tenants' money for investments — and home economics workshops.

The program has had the approval so far of everyone, from the professionals in the Welfare Department to the tenants.

Offit says: "The tenants will be happier, there will be less turnover. It's just good business."

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Kansas is losing some of the gold in its wheat to the industrial East and needs help from Washington.

A committee issued a chilling report to Gov. John Anderson recently on the erosion of the milling industry in the country's No. 1 wheat-producing state — mills closed at Kingman and Winfield; two more scheduled to close at Salina; a possible shutdown at Wellington.

The reason: federally regulated freight rates are lower for wheat than they are for flour. As a result, major buyers are purchasing wheat for processing in the East. Kansas mills can't compete. The state is worried that unless rates are equalized it may lose its whole milling industry.

It would mean a loss of 2,500 jobs with an annual payroll of $15 million.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — At the University of Utah's Delta Delta Delta sorority house, the postman didn't ring twice. He didn't ring at all. He was a member.

Arthur M. Aamodt, campus mail carrier the past 15 years, had another distinction — he's an honorary doctor of letters. The university administration conferred the title on him in 1958.

"Dr." Aamodt — as he's known around the university — explained how he joined the sorority: "I'd been on campus for several years and I thought I should get into some social life. Part of my route was the Pan-Hellenic office in the Student Union. I got an application and filled it out and the girls processed it with other applications."

"About a week later I got a call from the sorority inviting me to the house. They made me a guest of honor at a dinner and gave me a jewel box for cuff links with the chapter crest on it."

"Dr." Aamodt retired at end of December. The university, as a farewell gift, gave him a new title: "Honorary Doctor of Letters Emeritus."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The City Council is readying a campaign to protect diners from nudists.

Few diners have complained. But some of their wives have.

There have also been complaints from homeowners living near eating establishments which advertise "lunchtime strip show" along with the businessmen's special.

The council already has started its antinuity machinery into action — assigning the problem, appropriately enough, to its Fire, Police and Civil Defense Committee.

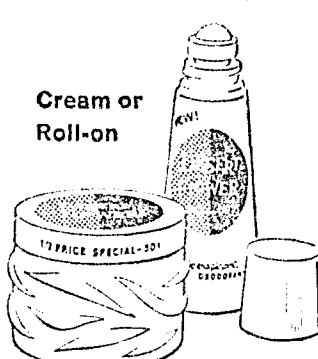

The committee's plan was due for action by the council itself this week. It would require establishments with an entertainment license to get a special permit for a strip-tease act from the City Police Commission.

Right now, any business with an entertainment license can start a strip act.

NBA Referees Have Hard Time Pleasing Players And Owners

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — One year the National Basketball Association owners complain referees protect certain ballplayers, and the next season they scream about rough-house tactics.

This is consistent with most things that happen in the NBA. Ideas (all money-saving, of course) bounce from one extreme to the other like a Boston Celtics' fast break.

Wilt Chamberlain and Wayne Hightower of San Francisco had their noses broken and Bob Pettit of St. Louis suffered a back injury earlier this season, which led to the current controversy.

Ben Kerner, the St. Louis Hawks' owner with the deft labor-management touch, led the charge, and naturally it was aimed at the NBA officials.

The abuse these referees take is monumental. They have to rank as the most harassed people in professional sports.

"I don't buy that stuff about the rough-house tactics," said Charley Eckman, who retired as an NBA official last month. "They're calling a tighter game this year than ever before."

"I don't know why Kerner made those statements. I guess it's because he changes coaches like he changes his pants. He probably figures he might as well change referees, too."

"The whole key to this game and controlling it is experienced officials. You must have the proper blend of experienced men and new blood."

"An experienced man knows when to hold the whistle on petty fouls. The trouble comes when these guys are having an off night, like some night when they're coming in off a long trip."

"When it's that kind of night the game is harder to control. The players are tired, they're not scoring, they're not playing well in general and they're pulling everything in the book on you. This is when it's toughest for the referee to keep the game under control."

"Actually, professional basketball is easier to referee than college. The game is the same every night. You don't have to worry about 2-12 zone or a zone press. You know it's man-to-man defense all the time, and you know the players and their moves."

"But the NBA always will have a problem until they get a larger staff of officials. And this is up to the board of governors. Right now I honestly believe they're pushing guys who aren't ready. Somehow they'll have to solve this problem."

"It will take a larger staff (the current one is 10), a full-time scout. The board of governors also will have to make Grady, a 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, AFL-CIO Urges Great New Hike In Spending By Both U.S., Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO said Wednesday that President Johnson's aim of creating enough jobs for all Americans is doomed unless "a dangerous imbalance" in the economy is corrected.

In fact, the labor organization said, "excessively high" unemployment will rise even higher this year under present conditions.

The AFL-CIO says that U.S. industry is piling up too much cash in corporate treasuries and boosting dividends to high-income stockholders who don't spend it on consumer goods.

Many corporations are "awash in a sea of undistributed profits," the AFL-CIO report said. It predicted industry could eventually strangle on too much cash.

The views were set forth in the "economic trends and outlook" section of its monthly magazine, the American Federationist.

"There is a growing fear that profits will have a depressing effect upon the economy, resulting, in time, in further unemployment and in declining productivity as well," it said.

The AFL-CIO's solution is "great new increase in spending by both industry and government to put more money in the hands of low-income consumers."

The report said a rise of 1 per cent in dividends paid stockholders since 1953 "amounts to the corresponding rise of 63.5 per cent in wages."

While industry is piling profits, the report said, labor costs per unit of production are declining because of cost-cutting business techniques and automation that reduces manpower.

"Record profits based on rising prices, lagging wages and special tax concessions are the kind of profits which produce and sustain full employment," the report said.

"The road to full employment lies, rather, in private and public programs and policies designed to provide markets for much of the productive capacity now lying idle."

Confident GOP Will Oust Burch, Gov. Smylie Says

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie said Wednesday the time is past when Dean Burch can do anything to save his job as national chairman of the Republican party.

Smylie said he favors "some one like Ray Bliss" — Ohio GOP chairman — to succeed Burch.

"Mr. Burch's offer to compromise in some areas is too little and too late," said Smylie, who is chairman of the National Republican Governors Association.

"Advice from sources within the (Republican National) Committee indicates that more than a majority of the members desire a change on the chairmanship," he said.

Smylie declined to say whether he had polled the committee, but expressed confidence that his assessment of the situation is correct.

Smylie played a key role in attempts to force the ouster of Burch at a December meeting of GOP governors in Denver.

Burch was picked for party chairman by Barry Goldwater after he received the GOP nomination for president.

Burch said Tuesday he would accept a new executive director of the party and a revision of the Executive Committee. But he said he would not step down as chairman voluntarily.

Smylie said it is not surprising that Burch is willing to compromise.

He said he regards the move as an indication that Burch "has taken a poll and has found his strength is nowhere near that mentioned as a requirement by Sen. Morton."

Smylie urged Burch to submit his resignation to the committee "and if it is not accepted then he would have a mandate to continue."

The GOP National Committee meets in Chicago Jan. 22-23.

Senate Puts Off Annual Battle Over Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's annual row over anti-filibuster moves reached the brink of erupting Wednesday but a "gentlemen's agreement" apparently put off the battle until at least next week, possibly even later this month.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., leader of a bipartisan group seeking to change the rules so filibusters can be shut off easier, said the scrap probably will be held in check until the new Congress completes its organizing.

And that's all right with him, he said. "We've got plenty of work to do. I'm not going to worry about it." Senate committees must be set up and other organizational steps remain.

The battle lines for the fight were laid with the introduction of two resolutions:

One by Anderson would amend the rules to permit debate to be cut off by three-fifths of the senators present and voting, instead of the two-thirds majority now required.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., and others offered another resolution to change the rules so debate could be limited by a majority of the entire membership — that is, at least 51 of the 100 senators.

Unanimous consent was asked for immediate consideration of each resolution as it was introduced. But in each case, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois objected, forcing a delay at least until Thursday.

Anderson indicated to newsmen later that the whole matter probably would not be brought up until next week or later this month.

North Carolina Gets National Health Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Carolina will get the big National Center for Environmental Sciences, but Ohio and West Virginia also are expected to share in an expanded program of environmental health research.

Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze announced Wednesday: 1. Selection of the North Carolina research triangle, in the Raleigh, Durham, Chapel Hill area, as the site for the national center. He said estimated cost is about $25 million. The center will house 1,000 or more persons.

2. Preliminary plans for construction of new facilities in Cincinnati, at the Robert A. Taft Sanitary Engineering Center, to consolidate the environmental health activities now scattered in nine locations in Cincinnati.

3. Establishment of a specialized Appalachian regional environmental health facility in West Virginia, at a site still to be chosen. This is expected to employ about 200 persons. Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said it will be in Morgantown.

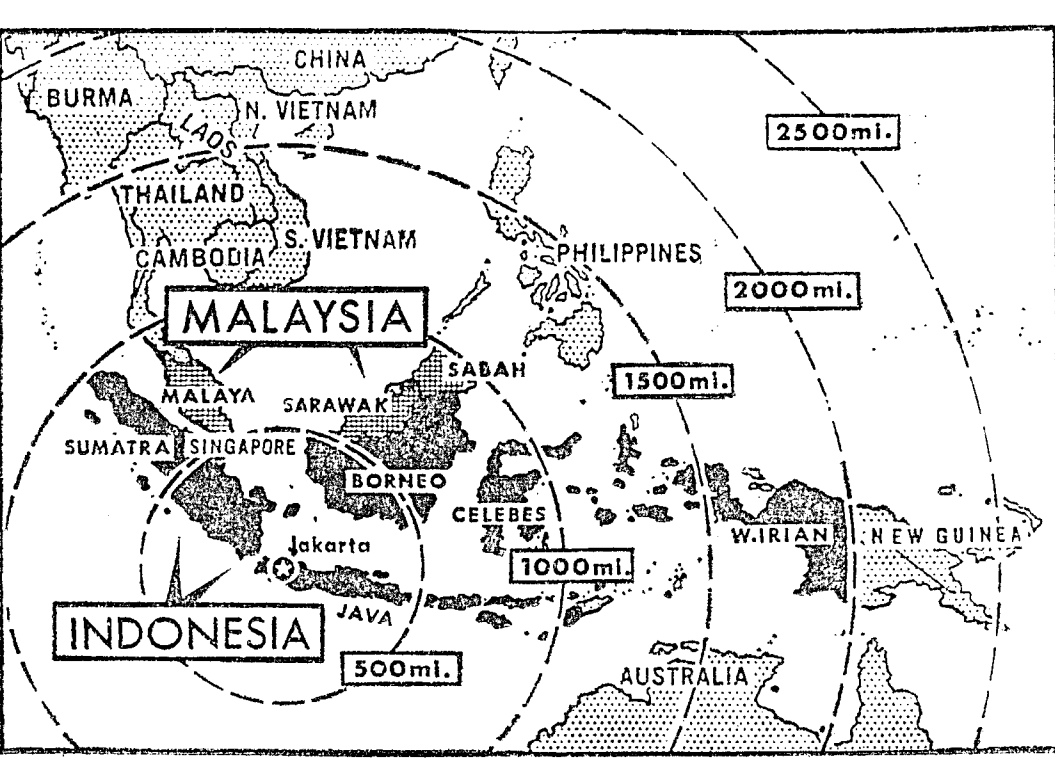

Celebrezze gave no cost estimates for the Cincinnati or West Virginia facilities. A spokesman said figures are not yet available.

The decision to place the major center in North Carolina ended a scramble that has been under way since plans for the project were first advanced in 1961.

The new facility in North Carolina will serve as a center for research relating to programs of the U.S. Public Health Service. Celebrezze said. These include studies of the effect on man of environmental contamination of air, water, milk, and food.

Deaths Of 4 Boys In Jail Stuns Town

PAYSON, Ariz. (AP)—An autopsy report Wednesday showed that the deaths of four teen-agers in the Payson jail was due to carbon monoxide poisoning.

The four youths, arrested Monday for investigation of theft, were found dead in a cell Tuesday morning by Deputy Sheriff T. L. Meredith.

"I was never so shocked in all my life," Meredith said Wednesday. He said he had known one of the boys all his life.

Meredith said the parents of the four knew the youths were in custody and county juvenile authorities had given permission to keep them in jail.

Sheriff Elton R. Jones, in office only five days, said an inspection of the butane gas heating system in the jail is continuing. Officials said it may have been faulty.

Jones said the search so far has turned up nothing conclusive. He said a heating expert will be called in.

A coroner's jury will meet at a later date.

The dead, all students at Payson High School, were: Clifford Greenland, 18, son of a widow who lives in the nearby community of Pine. His mother was hospitalized and treated for shock after learning of her son's death.

Blaine Schroeder, 16, son of a greengrocer at the Payson Country Club.

Kenny Haught, 15, whose father runs a television repair shop and whose grandfather has lived in the area since Payson was a frontier town.

John Watkins, 16, who moved to Payson with his parents only two weeks ago.

Sheriff Jones described the boys as decent young citizens "who just happened to get into a little trouble."

The Watkins boy was held for investigation of shoplifting in Phoenix. Jones said the other three were taken in custody Monday evening after some beer was taken from a lodge north of Payson.

Another youth, also picked up in the beer theft, escaped the tragedy because he was only 14. The boy was released to his parents Monday night.

Jones said all four victims were being held on orders of juvenile authorities. They were the only inmates in the jail, and their cell was built to accommodate 15.

Meredith said he found the youths dead when he took their breakfast in to them at 10:30 a.m. A doctor was called 30 minutes later.

Parents of the youths complained they were not informed of the deaths until several hours later.

Jones said Wednesday the deputy called him first and waited for the sheriff to travel the 75 miles to Payson from Globe, Ariz., before notifying the next of kin.

The sheriff said Meredith had checked on the boys "sometime in the early hours of the morning," but would not give a specific time. There is no jailer on duty and deputies make the jail checks.

Payson is a mountain community of about 800 residents. Many wealthy residents of Phoenix, 90 miles to the south, have summer homes around Payson.

The complex in which the jail is located was built only 10 months ago.

Robert Watkins said that he went to the complex Tuesday morning to pick up his car license plate tags in another office. He was unaware that his son was dead in a cell only a few feet away.

Vernon Haught and Dave Schroeder said they were aware their sons were being held for questioning, but they expected them to be released Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Johnson Dedicates Statue Of Rayburn As President Watches

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson turned up Wednesday to watch his wife dedicate a lifesize bronze statue of their friend, the late Sam Rayburn.

At ceremonies in the new House office building that bears his name, Congress friends of "Mister Sam" gathered for the event on what would have been Rayburn's 83rd birthday.

The frail-looking sculpture by Felix de Weldon in the massive marble and granite building, was dedicated by Mrs. Johnson.

"To all members of the 89th Congress and all future Congresses in hopes that — like Sam Rayburn — they will labor under the great white dome of the Capitol with the same faith in the people and the same nobility of purpose."

The President was only a spectator, coming late for the ceremonies in which tribute was paid to Rayburn, speaker of the House longer than anyone else in history.

He heard Mrs. Johnson's speech, much of which quoted from his own tribute delivered at a dinner shortly after Rayburn's death of cancer on Nov. 16, 1961. Johnson had said Rayburn "was younger than any of us" and "one thing he disliked more than old fogies was, as he put it — young fogies."

The President wasn't there earlier, though, when a fellow Texan, Democratic Rep. Wright Patman, took the occasion to defend the Rayburn building against criticism that it was excessively costly. It is expected ultimately to cost more than $95 million. Some put the figure at $122 million.

Patman said the cost was $86.4 million — "not an extravagance, but a sound buy and a solid success from every aspect of fiduciary common sense."

He said "it may be described as a bargain of the first magnitude, except by those who think in the dismal financial language of the 1930s."

Accepting the statue, donated by the Texas State Society of Washington, Rayburn's successor, Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., called it "a shrine from which Americans and people of good will everywhere will draw inspiration, for the great causes that, under God, improve the lot of the human race."

The slender, 6-foot, 2-inch statue, stands in the center of a curving stairway entrance. It looks as sculptor De Weldon saw Rayburn in 1955, holding in his right hand a gavel.

TFX Makes Successful Test Flight. Demonstrates Its Unique Wings

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The congressionally-debated warplane known as the TFX raced through a one-hour test flight Wednesday, successfully demonstrating its unique variable sweep wings.

The flight was the second for the F111 and was historic in that never before had a plane featuring such wings performed so well.

The big aircraft's maiden flight, though hailed as a success by the builders, was marred by a malfunction of the wing flaps. This blot on the plane's performance was erased the next day by General Dynamics engineers.

Pilot R. L. Johnson joined General Dynamics officials in proclaiming the resounding success of the test mission, which significantly came 24 days ahead of schedule.

He and co-pilot Val Prah! swept and retracted the wings at an altitude of 10,000 feet, moving them from the forward position of 16 degrees back to a fully swept angle of 72.5 degrees.

The adjustable wings permit the revolutionary aircraft to fly at extremely high and low speeds and take off and land in short distances.

Johnson said at a news briefing the F111 flew at a top speed of about 350 miles per hour and reached an altitude of about 27,000 feet.

The veteran test pilot revealed that the multi-purpose jet completed its prime accomplishments with "one minor exception."

He said the craft at one point developed in one engine a slightly high temperature and erratic fuel flow, preventing several minor stability tests.

"It was a very minor thing," he said, comparing it to the "loping of a car engine while driving at 30 miles an hour."

General Dynamics officials view the early and obvious success of the F111 as unspoken rebuttal to critics of the company's design.

Award of the contract, expected to be worth between $6 billion and $10 billion, ignited a far-flung controversy that resulted in a congressional investigation.

The investigation focused on contentions by some congressmen that the Boeing Co. submitted a superior design while promising production savings.

Denies Hornung To Be Traded Despite Report

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi emphatically denied Wednesday that he plans to trade Paul Hornung, the Packers' high-scoring halfback.

"I don't know a player in the National Football League who has the potential of Hornung," Lombardi said. "You don't give up something for nothing."

Lombardi commented on a report by the New York Journal-American which said that Hornung is finished with the Packers and may be traded to the New York Giants.

Lombardi emphasized that he was not "saying we're going to sit pat up here."

"If we have an opportunity to better ourselves, we will trade," the coach said. "But I have no plans to trade Hornung, period."

The New York newspaper story said that Hornung and Lombardi clashed when the halfback was late for a meeting prior to the Packers' Playoff Bowl game with St. Louis in Miami.

Hornung did not start in the game, and his last play was a halfback option pass that was intercepted by the Cardinals.

The interception doomed Green Bay's hopes. The Cardinals won 24-17.

The Journal-American, in a story by Charley Feeney, said that the Packers earlier had promised the Giants first refusal if Hornung ever came on the player trade market.

Lombardi has denied reports that he is thinking of trading the versatile halfback.

According to the newspaper, Hornung's latest clash with Lombardi came when the player was late for a team meeting. He reportedly telephoned Lombardi to apologize and was told: "Get in your car and keep going."

Issue Injunction Against Welfare Workers Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — A temporary injunction was issued Wednesday against a three-day-old strike of city welfare employees, which has brought a death warning to the Welfare Commissioner and threats to workers remaining on the job.

State Supreme Court Justice Irving Saypol issued the temporary injunction, then adjourned court after being informed that "the leading labor leaders" were meeting to try to settle the dispute.

The strike began in defiance of an earlier court restraining order.

Welfare Commissioner James R. Dumpson said there were "an increasing number of threats" received by workers who stayed on the job. He disclosed that a caller who sounded like a woman told his secretary: "Tell the Commissioner he has 30 minutes to live."

The department, administering a multi-million-dollar program of assistance to a half-million persons, maintained emergency and basic services with 5,000 of its 12,500 employees remaining on the job. The dispute over wages closed 10 of the department's 25 welfare centers.

Dumpson said the city's needy were "already feeling the pinch."

Nevertheless, $37 million in semi-monthly relief checks went into the mail on time.

Social workers struck Monday demanding that their nine-year salary scale of $5,150 to $7,100 be increased to a six-year scale of $6,100 to $9,000. The city had offered a flat increase of $300, plus increased fringe benefits.

The strike flouted not only the courts but also the state's Condon-Wadlin Act, which forbids strikes by public employees.

Tuesday night, for the first time in the 17-year history of the law, the city invoked its automatic dismissal provisions. Dumpson turned in 5,396 welfare workers' names and they were removed from the department payroll.

He called the law "despicable" but said he had no alternative.

When the dispute is settled, nobody expects the 5,396 to remain fired and Dumpson indicated he intended to rehire them probably invoking some lesser penalty of the Condon-Wadlin Act, such as loss of three days' pay for each day of strike.

FIRE DAMAGES CAFE ON NORTH MAIN

A cafe in the 1000 block of North Main was damaged by fire and smoke late Wednesday evening after a thermostat failed to function and ignited grease caught fire on the stove.

Firemen said that smoke and fire damage was limited to the kitchen and roof of the Gregory Cafe at 1000 North Main about ten o'clock last night.

A thermostat shorted out and grease in a french fryer caught fire, which spread up thru the roof of the kitchen and damaged part of the roof.

Polly's Pointers

Fishy Sort of Clipboard

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY — Use an office clipboard when scaling small fish. The clip holds the tail firmly as you scale, clean and fillet. —MRS. I. P. R.

DEAR POLLY — To provide extra storage space, I make pyramid-like bins from either one- two- or three-pound coffee or shortening cans. I pyramid them (on their sides with all open ends facing the same way) with four cans on the bottom, then three, then two and finally one on top I hold them together with heavy brown paper tape. Two strips, one at the back and one at the front, are sufficient. I then sew a pretty strip of material around the entire pyramid or use adhesive backed paper.

The three-pound cans are excellent to put on a bedroom closet shelf to hold men's sweaters, or ladies' bouffant slips. Roll them loosely and place one in each bin. I use two-pound tins for children's or lady's sweaters, bedroom slippers, clutch purses, pajamas just to mention a few things.

In the kitchen, two-pound cans are just right for appliance cords, bags of beans or rice, small tools, a flashlight and so on. In the cellar, I use for the pyramid plastic bleach bottles with the tops trimmed off as they do not rust. In these I put cleaning rags, brushes, candles and matches (in a plastic bag), extra fuses and light bulbs.

The one next to my sewing machine keeps separate all the things required for various sewing projects that are being worked on. Easy way to keep track of scissors and tape measure, too. —MRS.E.M.

GIRLS — The only hitch I find in this ingenious hint is in accumulating enough cans to make all the various storage bins one might like. In these I pay to cultivate the acquaintance of the nearest restaurant owner unless he starts to save them for the same purpose. —POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When using steel wool, cut a small hollow rubber ball in half along the center line. Press the steel wool into one of these halves and it makes a perfect holder for the sticky stuff and protects the fingers from slivers. —MRS. G. F. G.

Share your favorite home-making ideas . . . send them to Polly in care of this newspaper. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your idea in Polly's Pointers.

Lovely for tea; get an unsliced loaf of sandwich bread, then trim away the crusts; slice it horizontally and spread with a cheese sandwich filling. Roll the long slices and chill. At serving time, cut into small pinwheels.

SHIPWRECKED — William F. Haas Jr., above, got back to civilization safely after spending 30 days on a tiny island when his sloop was wrecked off southeastern Cuba. A British frigate took him off the island and returned him to Key West, Fla. He lost 40 pounds during his exile.
